

PROJECTS for REPORTS

Include your NAME and PROJECT TYPE on the front of all projects. Use unlined paper, poster board, construction paper, and colorful art materials to make your projects more attractive. You will be graded on neatness, doneness, creativity, and knowledge. Your project must PROVE that you KNOW the material studied. Choose a project that matches the information in your report. Picking an appropriate form to interpret your knowledge is part of the assignment itself!

Projects must be adapted to fit SPECIFIC content areas, such as a specific book or play, a writer's life, a historical period, etc. Do not wait until deadlines to ask about assignments.

How PROJECTS Are Graded

Each PROJECT is worth 100 points. You must satisfy the first five requirements to make a passing grade. Creativity and style separate the C's from the A's. I will assign a holistic grade for each category.

√+ Superior

√ Acceptable

√- Inadequate

_____ 1. Doneness: all required parts of project are completed.

_____ 2. Knowledge: proves you know the subject studied; specific; detailed; thorough.

_____ 3. Appropriate: project matches the kind of information studied; project interprets the subject well.

_____ 4. Attractive: typed, unlined paper, illustrations. etc.

_____ 5. Neatness: name, project type, and hour on front in ink; legible; corrections made appropriately

_____ Creativity & Style: That special something – hard work, artistic ability; verbal flair; insight; depth; thoroughness; serendipity – “I know it when I see it!”

Letter Grade _____ Total Points = _____ out of 100 points

D- 60% to a D+ 69% = meets only the first five requirements

C- 70% to a C+ 79% = meets the minimal requirements, average, no special effort or knowledge shown

B- 80% to a B+ 89% = meets all the requirements, and some part is superior, above average

A- 90% to an A+ 100% = meets all the requirements, and the entire project is exceptional

More specific grading guides can be developed for each individual project type.
